Amusements

LEAD All Amusements ...
"The Microbe of Love."

A beautiful three-act comedy, entitled "The Microbe of Love," will be the attraction at the Colonial Theatre tonight. The cast includes some of Bryan's most charming young ladies and clever young men, who will no doubt succeed in entertaining those who attend.

The prices of admission are 15c, 25c and 35c, and the curtain will rise at 8:40.

Return Engagement of "Madame Sherry."

The management of the Colonial Theatre has arranged for a return engagement of the eminent musical success, "Madame Sherry," early in April. This will be remembered as one of the best shows that has ever visited Bryan, and no doubt the theatre-goers will be glad to have the opportunity of enjoying this amusing musical comedy for the last time. The Southern company presented "Madame Sherry" here in December, and this is the Eastern company, which, by the way, should be the strongest of all, on their way to the Pacific coast.

A GENUINE TREAT.

The ever alert manager of the Princess Theatre deserves the appreciation of his patrons for the wonderful treat he presented to them last evening in "The Palace of Flames," a four-reel sensational drama, which was exceedingly thrilling and life-like; and to make it more effective, a miniature fire was started in front of the theatre and the Bryan fire department responded and drove around in front of the theatre, while a small bell, ingeniously arranged in front, sounded the fire alarm. These features, added to the flames in the moving picture, made everything appear real, and everyone enjoyed a genuine thrill of reality as they beheld the pictures, and all went away pronouncing this special feature a genuine success and realizing that the management of the Princess is wide-awake in securing novel and up-to-date features for the amusement of its patrons.

The Bishop's Tar Water.
The indorsement of a nostrum by a clergyman, above all by a bishop, has for hundreds of years been all that was necessary to obtain recognition for such a remedy from a believing public. Bishop Berkeley set all Britain to drinking tar water. Supposedly having received benefit from the use of tar water when ill of the colic, he published a work on "The Virtues of Tar Water," on which he said he had bestowed more pains than on any of his productions, and a few months before his death he published his last work, "Further Thoughts on Tar Water." That was in 1753. That tar water had not passed out of favor in rural England in the time of Charles Dickens is made evident in a laughable incident in "Great Expectations," where Pip, by a substitution of tar water in a bottle of wine, gives Uncle Pumblechook, corn chandler and seedsman, opportunity to take a long swig of Bishop Berkeley's cure-all, much to that eminent seedsman's astonishment and disgust.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Riding a Camel.

A man who has experienced the sensation described the doubtful pleasures of camel riding.
"You know the game of cup and ball?" he said. "You have a ball and a cup, and you toss the ball in the air and try to catch it in the cup, then toss and try to catch it again, and so on. Well, when you ride a camel the beast plays cup and ball with you, missing you nearly every time."—Exchange.

AN OLD RECORD.

While looking through a pile of old records recently the County Clerk found an old register for the "Junction House" in Hearne. The record is for part of the year 1884, and on August 21, 1884, the names of Grover Cleveland, N. Y.; W. V. Hanway, St. Louis; and J. E. Johnson, Liverpool, Ohio, are written. The record indicates that the party stopped there for dinner. The Cleveland signature is said to resemble that of the late President.

The names of many Bryan people are on the register, some of which are names of men who have long since died; others have not been heard of here in many years, having drifted to other places on the varying tides of fate and fortune.

The names of some of our sedate citizens are inscribed in rather boyish scrawls, though very dashing and with many flourishes. Compared with their plain business-like signatures of today, one draws the conclusion that the passing years have quenched some of the fire and reckless spirit of youth, and that "the old man ain't what he used to be."

There are more well written names, proclaiming that their owners were excellent penmen, than on the average hotel register in this day, when the typewriter is in such general use.
